Chris Aylward,

Good Day,

We represent a growing number of PSAC members from across Canada who have come together to express their concerns regarding the Treasury Board's Mandatory Vaccination Policy for Federal Public Servants. We are looking to PSAC for clear and concrete action as we move forward.

It is our understanding that Section 107 of the Federal Public Sector Labour Relations Act (FPSLRA), prevents employers from unilaterally altering the terms and conditions of employment while a union and employer are engaged in collective bargaining. The Public Service Alliance of Canada entered into bargaining with the Treasury Board of Canada in June 2021 for the Program and Administration Group, which represents almost 100,000 members.

As PSAC has publicly stated that the Union was not consulted on the mandatory vaccination policy, we call on PSAC to file a statutory freeze complaint with the Federal Public Service Labour Relations and Employment Board (FPSLREB).

We are also aware that PSAC can file a complaint in Federal Court against the current vaccine mandate. Why has PSAC not done so? In just 12 days, thousands of employees will be notified that they will be placed on LWOP indefinitely. We request that PSAC takes immediate steps to put this matter to the Federal Court for a decision. We would also like to take this opportunity to present you with an open letter, signed by more than 1000 concerned PSAC members and attached to this letter.

Please take the time to read it in its entirety and to schedule a meaningful discussion with us as this matter needs to be urgently resolved. We trust that as the National President of PSAC, you will do the right thing for all PSAC members.

In solidarity,

Stacey, Ryan, Theo, Laura
Along with the entire FedsForFreedom Team

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

We represent the members of a collective of Federal Public Servants of Canada, which is a growing collective of federal public servants from across Canada, a large portion of which are PSAC members and who concur with the following request for representation. We are concerned with the government's intention to imminently impose mandatory vaccinations as a condition of work for federal employees. We are looking to ensure that our legal rights pertaining to health privacy and bodily autonomy are fully respected and upheld by our employer and Union.

As members of PSAC, we are strong supporters of the mission the Union strives to achieve, and the rights it is mandated to uphold. Specifically, PSAC pledges to work toward the achievement of equality for all its members and to eliminate discrimination. As stated per PSAC's website (psacunion.ca/human-rights), this includes:

- Pressure the employer at all levels to end discriminatory practices, implement special measures to eliminate barriers to employment, and redress past and present systemic discrimination which has an adverse impact on our membership.
- Continue to lobby for changes in legislation to achieve full bargaining rights in the public service and strengthen the Canadian Human Rights Act and the Employment Equity Act.

In discussions with a PSAC Bargaining Group in regards to this issue some representatives of the Bargaining Group have estimated that 10% of their members have expressed concerns about the intention of our employer mandating medical procedures, and requesting private medical information. If this estimate is near reality, at least 21,000 PSAC members could have serious concerns about our employer's intentions.

As such, it is clear that the loss of rights for one member is the loss of rights for all.

Our Position as a collective of Federal Public Servants of Canada

As part of this collective, our position is simple. It is our intention to assert our rights as they pertain to medical privacy, and our human rights as protected under the Canadian Human Rights Act, including the duty to accommodate. This means we cannot, and do not desire to contravene any legal rights that protect our medical privacy. As such, we will not at any time consent to revealing our personal health information, or disclosing our vaccination status to our employer.

The current policy only provides three options: (i) vaccinated; (ii) unvaccinated; (iii) unvaccinated due to need for accommodation. There is no option for providing an answer stating unwillingness to disclose due to right to medical privacy, and the only way to exercise this right is through a non-answer. However, within this policy a non-answer is assumed to mean "unvaccinated", which leaves PSAC members with two options: (i) forfeit your right to medical privacy and reveal your status; or (ii) exercise your right and lose your livelihood. This can be seen as nothing less than coercion. Coercion is defined as: compelling a party to act in an involuntary manner by use of threats, including force. It involves a set of various types of forceful actions that violate the free will of an individual to induce a desired response.

Consenting to any policy or directive requesting disclosure of our COVID-19 vaccination status is in direct contravention of privacy laws under Part III, Section 18 of the Personal Health Information Protection Act, 2004, S.O. 2004, c. 3, Sched. A (ontario.ca) as the employer is not a health information custodian as defined by Section 3(1) of the Act. In addition, we believe that the onus and obligations have not been sufficiently or adequately satisfied to justify a requirement to be imminently imposed by the employer to require disclosure of vaccination status.

This vaccination mandate brings up a number of questions regarding our rights as employees of the Federal Government and the Union's commitment to the duty of fair representation. Any denial to justify and adequately address our concerns and questions will give us no option than to pursue further action. We will not encourage nor take part in any discrimination levied upon us based on our decision to keep our personal health information private, and request your support in supporting our personal medical rights.

The contradictory position of PSAC

On April 1 2021, PSAC stated:

Q: Can my employer make the COVID-19 vaccine mandatory?

A: No one can be forced to get a vaccine in Canada. The Canadian government, and many of the provinces, have stated that the vaccine will not be mandatory. British Columbia, for instance, has stated that the vaccine will be available to "everyone in the province who the vaccine is recommended for and who would like to be vaccinated.

Q: Can my employer fire me for refusing to take the vaccine?

A: It is very unlikely, especially in the early stages of the vaccine rollout, that an employer could fire an employee for refusing to take a vaccine. It is possible, however, that employers may be able to require an employee to work off-site until the pandemic is over.

Now, on October 6 2021, PSAC has altered these statements with information contradictory to previous guidance:

Q: Can my employer make the COVID-19 vaccine mandatory?

A: No one can be physically forced to get a vaccine against their will. However, employers have an obligation to keep workplaces safe and, in the context of a global pandemic, may require employees to be vaccinated to continue to work. [...] Even those working remotely are required to be vaccinated.

Q: Can my employer discipline or terminate me for refusing to be vaccinated?

A: An employee has the right to refuse to be vaccinated but they may end up suffering the consequences of their decision, including being placed on leave without pay or even an administrative termination.

It is clear that the current statements provide a reduction in rights and position for PSAC members. Why has PSAC's stance changed?

Mandatory Vaccination Policies

The Public Health Agency of Canada in its Canadian National Report on Immunization 1996, Volume 23S4 - May 1997, acknowledges and informs that "Unlike some countries, immunization is not mandatory in Canada; it cannot be mandatory because of the Canadian Constitution".

In addition to the employers' mandatory vaccination policy, it is clear that the intent is to ask workers to disclose their COVID-19 vaccination status and to provide proof of vaccination. We identify this possibility as a clear and egregious discriminatory action against those who maintain the right to keep their health information private.

Therefore, we implore you as our Union, to file an immediate grievance to the employer for mis-representation of the need to answer their request for attestation.

Privacy

The policy on Policy on COVID-19 Vaccination states, in section 3.2.3: "Personal information is only created, collected, retained, used, disclosed, and disposed of in a manner that respects the provisions of the Privacy Act and other applicable legislation". Within this policy, such personal information refers to the information contained in the attestation submitted to GC-VATS, which will be disclosing the individual's vaccination status. As per the TBS directive, employees who are deemed to be in non-compliance with this policy through either responding to the attestation that they are unvaccinated, or through a refusal to attest, will be placed on LWOP beginning November 15, 2021.

This action, in essence, discloses to anyone working on the same team, or anyone who will be communicating by email with someone placed on LWOP after that date, that the individual is unvaccinated or did not attest. This is a clear violation of the protection provided within the Privacy Act.

Therefore, we implore you as our Union, to file an immediate grievance against our employer for violating the right to privacy outlined by the Privacy Act.

Unpaid Leave

There are inherent contract law issues that we believe are not possible to enforce, nor is it ethical to penalize employees for alleged non-compliance. We have not engaged in negotiations with the Union to parachute such a clause or policy into our employment contract, including one which jeopardizes our employment position.

The employer has created a new and arbitrary condition of employment, and is enforcing it by use of involuntary leave without pay and threat of termination of employment for cause, simply for answering the vaccination attestation in a manner they have deemed to be incorrect.

They have further advised that employees who are put on unpaid leave will not only be terminated, but the compounding ill effect will result in no eligibility of EI benefits from Service Canada. This is an outrageous violation of our employment rights and human rights, and we will not tolerate this.

Therefore, we implore you as our Union, to file an immediate grievance to the employer for breach of my Collective Agreement.

Bona Fide Occupational Requirement and violation of our Human Rights

The employer has notified us that everyone must attest to being vaccinated with the COVID-19 vaccines or face disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment for cause. This is a discriminatory employment practice as it requires the disclosure of personal medical information, while also acknowledging that a refusal to disclose, or disclosing the "wrong" answer will result in disciplinary action.

The Canadian Human Rights Act, under section 15, informs that employers may lawfully discriminate, based on an otherwise prohibited ground under the Canadian Human Rights Commission, if they can prove a legitimate business reason.

Therefore, we implore you as our Union, to conduct three (3) immediate action items:

1. Demand that the employer provides a job analysis for every position which shows the breakdown of the necessary job tasks and an assessment of the risk level.
  - The risk must be “measurable” and “quantifiable”. Simply stating that being unvaccinated is a risk to the public or to patients/staff in the health care system, needs to be measured and quantified.
  - The employer needs to demonstrate this with hard scientific evidence and statistics.
  - The employer is required to demonstrate that the risk cannot be mitigated by other measures (masks, barriers, social distancing, working from home, rapid testing, etc.).

2. Once the employer presents their job analysis for the required position, the Union needs to ask the employer for written clarification on which aspects of the position are dangerous, if that person is not vaccinated.

3. Finally, the Union needs to ask the employer for written explanation regarding what accommodation measures were explored, and why the employer has determined that those accommodations would be considered “undue hardship”.

Since the employer has mitigated the risk for the last twenty (20) months by imposing mask wearing, social distancing, working from home, etc., why are these measures suddenly considered an undue hardship?

Further unanswered questions

These issues are complex; however, each PSAC member's livelihood is at stake. We are facing severe consequences, both known and unknown, without disclosure or transparency.

What is the legal basis of mandating COVID-19 vaccination as a condition of employment, given that vaccination for any communicable disease has never been a condition of employment previously? Under Sections 10 and 11 of the Health Care Consent Act, 1996, S.O. 1996, c. 2, Sched. A (<https://www.ontario.ca/laws/statute/96h02#BK14>) an individual must consent to treatment, and that consent must be freely given. Given that the employer is not a health practitioner as set out in the Act, what legal basis does the employer have for advising or requesting that employees be vaccinated against COVID-19 or any other communicable disease?

Will this policy be directly related to job performance, and will it be required to perform critical aspects of every single PSAC member's job? Why will undisclosed or non-vaccinated employees be penalized for not receiving the COVID-19 vaccination?

If it is the employer's intent to mitigate risk to the health and safety of employees, surely this effort should extend to any and all communicable diseases. As such, is it the employer's intent to request that employees and contractors in all government buildings (including security personnel, janitorial staff, on-site food services employees, etc.) be mandated to have up to date vaccinations for things such as hepatitis, measles, seasonal influenza, and others? If not, what is the basis for mandating a COVID-19 vaccination policy but not a policy that includes, for example, testing for tuberculosis, or testing employees who present with a sore throat for streptococcus, or mononucleosis (both of which are highly contagious) prior to being allowed to enter an office building?

Currently, no data on medium- or long-term efficacy of COVID-19 vaccines are available (<https://www.canada.ca/en/public-health/services/immunization/national-advisory-committee-on-immunization-naci/recommendations-use-covid-19-vaccines.html#a7.4>). Given this information, what is the legal basis for implementing a policy which requires employees to be vaccinated or face disciplinary action, up to and including termination? Will the employer be liable for any adverse reactions that might take effect due to any vaccinations received as a condition of employment?

How will the definition of a fully vaccinated individual change over time, given that in the current context, an individual is not considered fully vaccinated until a 14-day period has elapsed after the administration of a second dose of the vaccine (<https://www.canada.ca/en/public-health/services/diseases/coronavirus-disease-covid-19/vaccines/life-after-vaccination.html>)? Will individuals be required to receive boosters at regular intervals, and disclose those to the employer on a continuing basis, in order to be considered fully vaccinated?

These, and many concerns and questions, are being posed to you as we have engaged multiple times to seek answers from our union, who have not voiced our concerns to the employer.

What we are looking for Moving Forward

To reiterate what we stated at the beginning of this letter, we represent a large group of united public servants, and our numbers are growing by the day. We expect PSAC to uphold our rights and lobby vigorously on our behalf to ensure the employer removes their mandatory COVID-19 vaccination policies that are predicated on an infringement of our medical privacy.

In closing, we seek your immediate assistance and respectfully ask for a written acknowledgement of receipt of this letter, outlining the steps that PSAC is taking to negotiate with the employer on our behalf in relation to these issues, and your written responses to the questions posed, no later than within the next 3 calendar days. We urge you to remember that under s.37 of the Canada Labour Code, PSAC has a duty to represent all members. Coercion and intimidation should have no place in any workplace policy, and we would trust and hope that you would feel the same. We implore you to negotiate alternative work arrangements for PSAC members who do not wish to disclose their vaccination status.

We are also requesting to meet with PSAC Executives by October 22, 2021 to have an opportunity to discuss the questions and concerns outlined here, along with how PSAC will be representing all of its members by respecting each individual's right to medical privacy and human rights.
